Makainal moved to reconsider the joint resolution of the House and Senate introduced last Friday having reference to the erection of buildings in the second of the the sense of the resolution the House should know it definitely. He thought it give the superintendent the right to stop granting permits for wooden buildings and no action might be laked on until the next session. The House was assembled to make laws for the benefit of all. The Board of Health was giving permits. He wanted to remind the members of the Fourth district that until a change was made they could not interfere with the superintendent should be given so much power, and he was strongly in favor of rejecting if. The poor could not put up a building worth $19,000, $25,000. It was preposterous.
